An online Seminar on “Care of Lactating Mother and Neonatal in Pandemic”

An online seminar on the care of lactating mothers and neonates in the pandemic was organized by the Home Economics Department of S. S. Girls College Gondia in collaboration with the Obstetrics and Gynaecological Society, Gondia. The seminar took place on 8th July 2021 in commemoration of World Breastfeeding Week. The online platform used for the seminar was Google Meet.

The seminar featured two distinguished speakers, Hon'ble Dr. Shilpa Meshram and Hon'ble Dr. Abhaya R. Joglekar. Dr. Shilpa Meshram, an obstetrician gynaecologist & sonologist from the Obstetrics and Gynaecological Society, Gondia, brought her expertise and insights to the seminar. Dr. Abhaya R. Joglekar, a Professor from Government D.B.P.G Girls College, Raipur, shared her knowledge and experience in the field.

Dr. Madhuri Khobragade skillfully anchored the online seminar, ensuring its smooth flow and engaging the participants throughout the event. Dr. Gokula Bhalerao, the Head of the Home Economics Department, delivered the introductory speech, setting the context for the seminar and highlighting its importance in addressing the unique challenges faced by lactating mothers and neonates during the pandemic.

The chairperson's speech was delivered by Hon'ble Dr. N. K. Bahekar, the Principal of S. S. Girls College, Gondia. His speech expressed gratitude to all the attendees, organizers, and speakers, emphasizing the significance of the seminar and its impact on the well-being of lactating mothers and neonates.

The seminar attracted a diverse group of 160 participants, including teachers, professors, advocates, Anganwadi sevikas, housewives, and others. This wide range of participants brought diverse perspectives and experiences to the discussions, enriching the overall learning experience.

The seminar focused on various aspects of caring for lactating mothers and neonates during the pandemic. Key topics discussed included breastfeeding practices, maintaining hygiene, mental health support for mothers, and the role of different stakeholders, including healthcare professionals and community workers, in providing guidance and support.

Ms. Chute delivered the vote of thanks, expressing gratitude to the speakers, organizers, and participants for their valuable contributions and active participation. The seminar provided an excellent opportunity for learning, networking, and knowledge-sharing among individuals involved in the care of lactating mothers and neonates.

In conclusion, the online seminar on the care of lactating mothers and neonates in the pandemic, organized by the Home Economics Department of S. S. Girls College Gondia in collaboration with the Obstetrics and Gynaecological Society, Gondia, successfully addressed the challenges faced by lactating mothers and neonates during these uncertain times. The seminar fostered collaboration and knowledge exchange among participants, contributing to the overall well-being of lactating mothers and their newborns.
